Usage

The Felicity app has a few main features which will be covered in the following sections.

Adding a product

To add a product to a wishlist you tap the blue plus sign button in the bottom right corner of the screen.

This takes you to the Product Details page.

The fields “Product name” and “Reason to buy” are required, and the website link field is optional. The reminder period field has a default value of 7 days and defines the frequency the app is going to remind you about your product with a new awareness question. Lock period has a default period of 30 days and defines a period during which the purchase of this product is locked in the application.

Hit the green checkmark button to save the changes or the red circle with cross button to discard the changes.

When changes are saved you are taken to the homepage of the application where you can see your newly added item.

Awareness questions

The application contains a number of questions regarding your purchase which are designed to let you better consider your decision. Click the green button with the question mark on to see a new question appear.

Please input your answer and tap Confirm. Please tap Cancel if you are not ready to answer this question. When an answer is saved a counter on the button is increased.

A screenshot of a dialog box with a dark border. The title is 'Increase product buying score'. The main text asks 'How often do you think you are going to use this product?'. Below this is a text input field with the placeholder 'Enter your answer...'. Underneath the input field, it says 'To increase the score of this product you must answer the question above.' At the bottom right, there are two buttons: 'Cancel' and 'Confirm'.

You can review your answers in the Product details screen by tapping the pencil button. There are a limited number of questions for each product. Once you answer all of them, you will be simply asked whether you want to increase the buying score of the product. It is an indicator of how keen you are on making a purchase. The products in the product list page are automatically ordered in descending order based on their buying score—you will see the products with the highest buying score first.

Removing a product

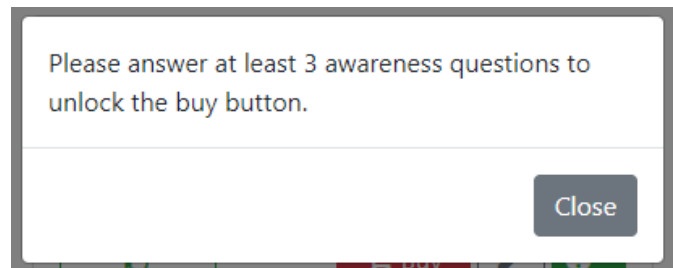

You can remove a product at any time by tapping the “Forget” button on the product list page. Successful operation is going to produce an alert.

😊 The product has been removed from the list. Good job!

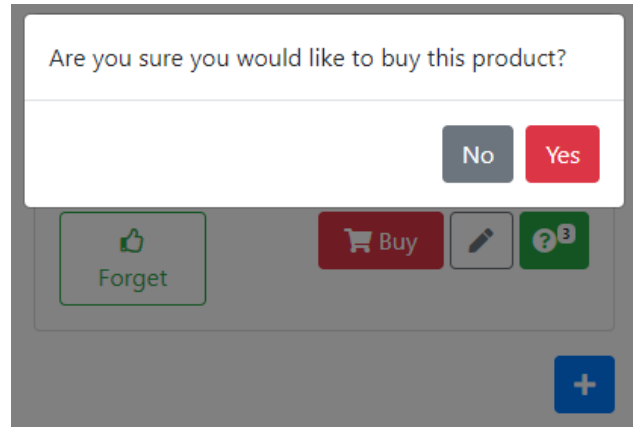

You can also wait until the end of the “lock period” and mark the product as bought. When the lock period has lapsed the “Buy” button becomes enabled.

This operation also requires you to have at least three awareness questions answered. If you don't have enough questions answered you will see a pop-up prompting you to answer more of them.

If you have enough questions answered you will see confirmation pop up to buy a product.

Successful operation results in the following alert

☹ The product has been marked as bought and removed from the list.

Notifications

If you allow push notifications for “Felicity” you can receive notifications prompting you to review a product with frequency which you set on the product’s Edit page.
